Happy Holidays and A New Year Full of Miracles To All of You! The End Of The Year 1982

Dear Shanti Nilaya friends and those new people who have just joined us in our work and workshops.

It is a great pleasure to write to all of you once more before this interesting year is over and an even more exciting one begins. Where shall I start?

In the last newsletter we shared our need for a decision in regard to the direction we should take after the great move from our leased (and far too expensive) mountain property of the most gorgeous 42 acres above Lake Wohlford. We decided to reduce not only our administrative staff, but also our headquarters to a reasonable and easily affordable office building in Escondido. We found the perfect space and planned to move in during the last week-end in October, just as I was returning from the most exciting but also exhausting five weeks in Scandinavia.

And what happened when I returned? Everything had been packed and moved, cleaned and unpacked. Our new office at 925 S. Orange Street looked like we had been there always. Typewriters were chattering away. Judy answered one phone after the other, Clyde and Jess were fixing up the group session room, shelves appeared on the wall and Charlotte was busy getting the computer rolling. . . . A miracle? Naturally. We do teach: "Ask and you will be given", volunteers came out of the woodwork and before I returned, all the work was done—joyfully and happily. How can we thank all of you for your gracious offer of your time, energy, muscle power and love? For the trucks that appeared and the high school children from the Oak Glen School who pitched in wherever help was needed, for the couple who was willing to drive in their truck from Arizona. . . . to so many we are grateful.

So I want to use this opportunity to thank personally the old staff of Shanti Nilaya, Charlotte especially, to Clyde who came down from Montana to do simply everything that required either a strong man or a mechanically inclined handy person; Janet and Bill Raven and Steve Mitchell, Virginia Graeves, Natalie Masters, Mary Lou and Sandy from Massachusetts, Janice Zalla and last but not least Clarence Beauchamp and son Clay of North County Moving and Storage Company. How is that for an answer to prayer?

The weeks in Finland, Sweden, Denmark, Germany and Switzerland were very fruitful and gratifying experiences. The lecture in Duisburg was picketed by men carrying signs: "Don't attend her lecture, she is against nuclear weapons!" "Don't attend, she believes in guardian angels. . . ." A bombthreat necessitated the bombsquad to clear out the place prior to my presentation and I felt like a Pope or President with all the security guards surrounding me—even to the john! The result was naturally a record attendance, larger than Duisburg ever had before: 10,000 people arrived in busloads from all over Germany. This [illegible] border from Estonia to come to Finland and Grete did an outstanding job to organize everythi country on the Baltic Sea. No sooner did I arrive back in my old home country and relaxed, I had my first near death experience due to ill health. I simply left my body at the breakfast table and when I returned the pale face of my sister Eva told me the seriousness of my condition. I made it to Montreal and finally back to California, but I knew that great changes had to be made should I continue my work. And so, on the last days of our great move down the mountain, I had to go up there once more late at night and say good-bye to the end of a big dream and hello to a new beginning. I had, at the same time, to give up coffee, reduce my other unhealthy food habits and REST.

How can one rest when the most efficient bookkeeper and most hardworking employee had just died and was not replaced? When the house is full of boxes of paperwork which could not fit into the new offices and needed my personal attention? When the garden was full of brusselsprouts and tomatoes that needed harvesting and canning and I was unable to walk up the hill? When my goats were crying and ready to deliver their first babies and I was physically unable to respond?? Well, it was a lesson—all coming at once on the day of the new beginnings: I made it.

I am off coffee and tea now and drink, as I am told, six glasses of water a day. I have reduced my smoking and stayed at home between workshops and I have been able to empty a few boxes of mail from my backlog. The workshops in Pittsburg and Michigan were overfull and yet less exhausting than ever before thanks to the help of Sheila and Jack and so many who came to pitch in. My tomatoes were picked and eaten anyway, and my goat had—guess? Twins; the most adorable baby goats anyone has ever seen, and Charlotte takes care of them more lovingly than I could have ever done.

Tomorrow I am leaving for Hawaii for our last 1982 USA Workshop and then two days later to Switzerland for our last European Workshop this year in Agra, near Lugano. My son will join me there and we will celebrate Christmas with my sisters in Basel, then with Barbara and Kenneth (my children) in Oakbrook. I shall be home for the third celebration in my beloved mountain paradise in Valley Center on the 25th of December. So, if you don't hear from me, this goes instead of Christmas cards: Have a wonderful time at the end of this year, celebrate, spoil and love each other, and foremost be grateful for every day that is given to you to grow, to learn and to share. And to all of you who have given and shared, supported and nurtured us THANK YOU and HAVE A BLESSED 1983.

Love,

Elisabeth Elisabeth

I JOYFULLY DETERMINE TO MEET LIFE WITH EVER INCREASING FAITH.

The choice is mine to make! How beautiful it is to choose positive attitudes and feelings, to choose to respond joyfully to life with growing faith, to choose to let each action and reaction be based on an abiding faith and belief that God is the one presence and power in my life and in the universe.

I stand fast in faith knowing that every situation in my life has its perfect outworking. I joyfully determine to greet life with uplifted vision, to find joy and harmony in the events of easch day.

I am continuously renewed and strengthened as I meet life with faith and feelings of anticipation. Faith is "the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen."

The Christ Spirit within me gives me courage, strength, and wisdom to meet every situation with a living, growing faith in God.

By faith we understand that the world was created by the world of God, so that what is seen was made out of things which do not appear.—Heb. 11:3.

PROJECTS SHANTI NILAYA IS MOST ACTIVELY INVOLVED WITH:

LIFE-DEATH-TRANSITION WORKSHOPS

have been held all over the USA, Canada, Australia, Switzerland, Sweden and Finland this year with a record number and attendance.

The type of people attending has shifted somewhat from a majority of bereaved family members and parents of dying children and/or terminally ill people to other needy men and women, who have joined the ever increasing number of people who have lost a child (or adult) through violent murder and/or suicide.

Many more former prison inmates have been referred to us after their discharge as well as youngsters who have been involved in involuntary homicide due to car accidents prior to their imprisonment. To see the increasing compassion of parents of murdered children able to hug a former prison inmate at the end of a workshop is an unforgettable experience and a sign of hope that we will eventually all learn to help and understand each other rather than to judge and condemn!

Due to Sandy Teguis' investment and energy we have enrolled many former Vietnam fighters, who have chosen life rather than pain, disillusionment and suicide (did you know that more Vietnam veterans have died after their return to their homeland by suicide than have died during the whole Vietnam war???) . . . Well, those who have attended attest to the benefit of those five days and they all have been a gift to us. If you know of any who are willing to stick their neck out and turn negative to positive, send them!

LECTURES ALL OVER THE WORLD HAVE SERVED TWO PURPOSES:

They plant the seeds and helps large numbers of people to begin to think about the quality of life rather than the quantity, help them overcome their fear of death and makes them more conscious of their own unfinished business—before it is too late. Many have called up a relative and stopped their "silent punitive treatment", many have started to truly listen to their spouse or to their children and many have had the courage to sign up for a workshop to look at their Hitler within in order to become a Mother Theresa. It also has served as a source of income for our non-profit corporation, it helps us to pay the bills, to answer mail and phone calls from desperate, needy and bereaved people and organize my travel and lecture schedule.

TRAINING SESSIONS

The training sessions have increased in number and application, by those who have attended one of my workshops and are willing to get more training in the externalization process, to staff future screaming rooms in schools, churches, hospitals and nursing homes.

In 1983 Sheila will direct the following training weekends:

It hurts, it makes you want to turn the clock back, to put your head in a pillow, to forget the grim reality of your life right now. Shanti Nilaya wants to teach people how they can face the challenges of life, the windstorms and use them as soil for growth. Shared anguish in an environment of unconditional love and compassion (not pity) can produce miracles! We have seen it over and over again. Some of the enclosed letters will share some of these experiences:

We were crushed by the brutal rape and murder of our daughter five weeks prior to your seminar. We were desperate, desolate, enraged and had not had any peace during those five weeks. You and your workshop gave us the opportunity to vent our terrible anger and frustration—and in truth are the prime reason why we are functional today.
Edward Myers
Wilmette, Illinois

. . . I experienced very significant changes in myself and saw them happen in the entire group of participants. I believe that the techniques utilized allow us to heal ourselves and free ourselves of the problems of the past in a safe and constructive manner.
Bernard Siegal, M.D.
Exceptional Cancer Patients
New Haven, Ct.

Dr. Ross's concept of negativity has provided me tremendous insight into the adverse aspects of the behavior of myself and others. This long-sought understanding has facilitated immeasurable changes in the quality of my personal life, and it has had daily applications in my work as a physician.
Pauline Harding, M.D.
West Chicago, Illinois

Spiritual Evolution Workshop
I love your deep love of God, which is so apparant by your overwhelming HUMANITY. I learned much just being in your presence watching you interact with others.
Suzanne Colborn
Boothbay Harbor, Me.

Lecture
. . . Somehow I felt you were talking just to me. The standing ovation at the conclusion indicated the degree of appreciation felt by the audience.

Music-Dance and 80 - 100 Year Olds Project — (can you suggest a name?)

Most of you know my interest in children and very old people and my great concern that they are not loved and touched enough. We have planted thousands of seeds literally all over the "civilized" world (the less "civilized" ones take better care of their children and the old!!!) that we should combine nursing homes with a daycare center for toddlers of working parents. Those two groups could enhance each other and the old ones could again feel needed, wanted and touched.

Since Katie's beautiful dancetherapy videotape has become a part of our teaching tool in my workshops, many people have inquired how this can be spread to other nursing homes. So we decided to make a teaching videotape in a home for 70 to 100 year olds with Katie, the dance teacher and myself and the old ones as the students. An accompanying text will encourage others interested in the elderly to try this challenge and to see how much music, dance and love can enhance the often so dulled lives and bring smile and rhythm back into their everyday living. We do the filming in the third week in January in SONOMA and have the following needs:

1) One 3 tube video camera, JVC KY1900, JVC KY2700, SONNY DXC 6000 or equivalent.
2) ¾ portable or stationary videotape recorder, SONY VO4800, VO5600 or equivalent.
3) Fluid head tripod
4) Standard portable lighting kit and last but not least
5) 5″ - 7″ portable monitor

Is there anyone who can make USC editing facilities available after the shooting?

The Children's Program will be discussed in our last newsletter, as we try to reorganize and also save my energy so we can add some children's workshops on the East and the West Coast in the second half of this coming year. If you have children who are troubled and need such a one day intense workshop, let us know.

Robbi Gass of Spring Hill Community, Fitchburg, Massachusettes, is coming February 4th to Southern California to give a concert with 35 singers and dancers. Anyone who has ever heard his singing will be on cloud nine! For details connect with us at the beginning of the New Year.

A Letter from John Alexander

All of you have heard Elisabeth describe what happens at the time of death when you attend the Life, Death, and Transition workshop. These encounters are now collectively called Near-Death Experiences or NDEs and are bring studied by a group of scientists and physicians across the country. In a recent book, George Gallop (of the Gallop Poll) stated that his survey showed that nearly 8 million Americans have had this experience.

We know that many people who have had an NDE are very troubled by the experience. They often think they are unique or possibly crazy or at least sure others will take them as such. Many have not told even their closest friends or relatives of the NDE and have spent years trying to integrate the experience into their lives.

A few years ago, the people studying NDEs formed an organization called International Association for Near-Death Studies (IANDS). Included were Ray Moody, M.D., author of Life after Life; Ken Ring, Ph.D., a psychologist; Michael Sabom, M.D., a cardiologist; Bruce Greyson, M.D., a psychiatrist; and many others. IANDS takes no philisophical position, but feels that we have a recurring experience worthy of rigorous study and reporting. We publish two items, a quarterly 16 page newsletter Vital Signs and a technical journal called Anabiosis.

If you are interested in information, please write: IANDS, Box U-20, University of Connecticut, Storrs, CT 06268

TRANSITIONS

The following friends have died since our last newsletter:

Virginia Falce of Vernon, Ct. died in October and will be greatly missed. The energy she poured into Make Today Count, Compassionate Friends, and I.A.N.D.S. (International Association for Near Death Experiences) has left a legacy of vision and compassion.

Hakan Minniberg of Stockholm Sweden died of ALS and his wife has gracefully consented to help other patients with the speaking board. It was his wish to die at home and as a result of our Sweden workshop I found the right person to take over the night shift and grant him his last wish.

We will keep all of our friends in our thoughts and prayers and feel blessed for having known them.
